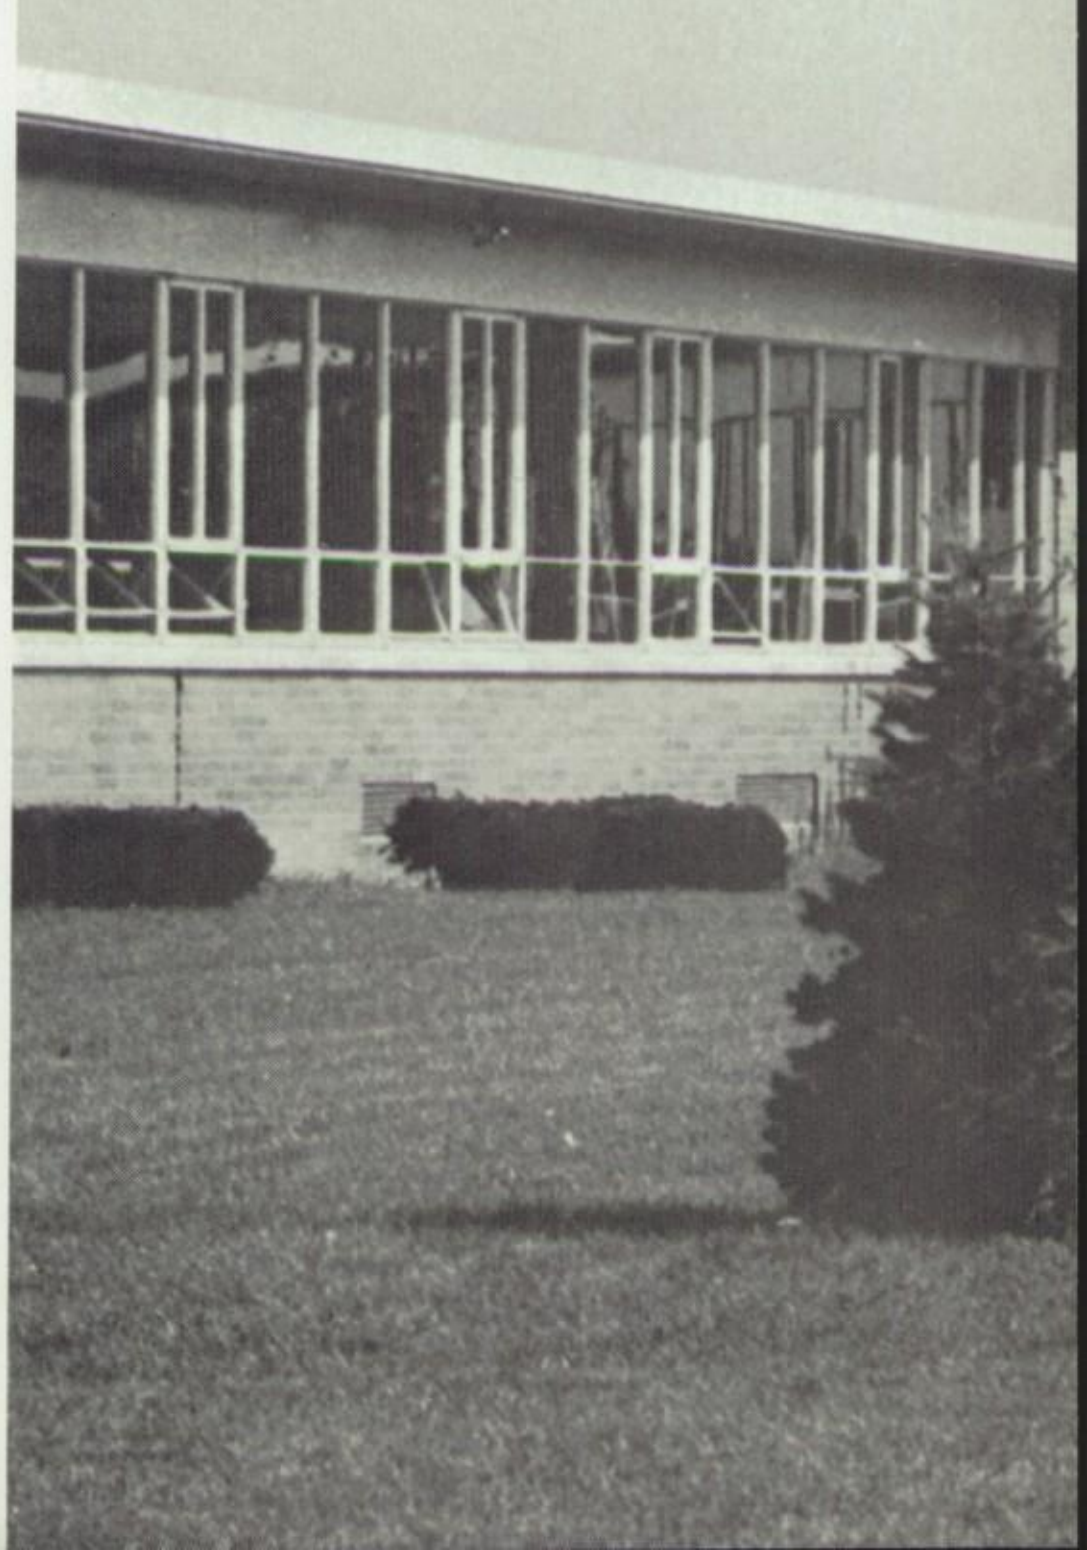
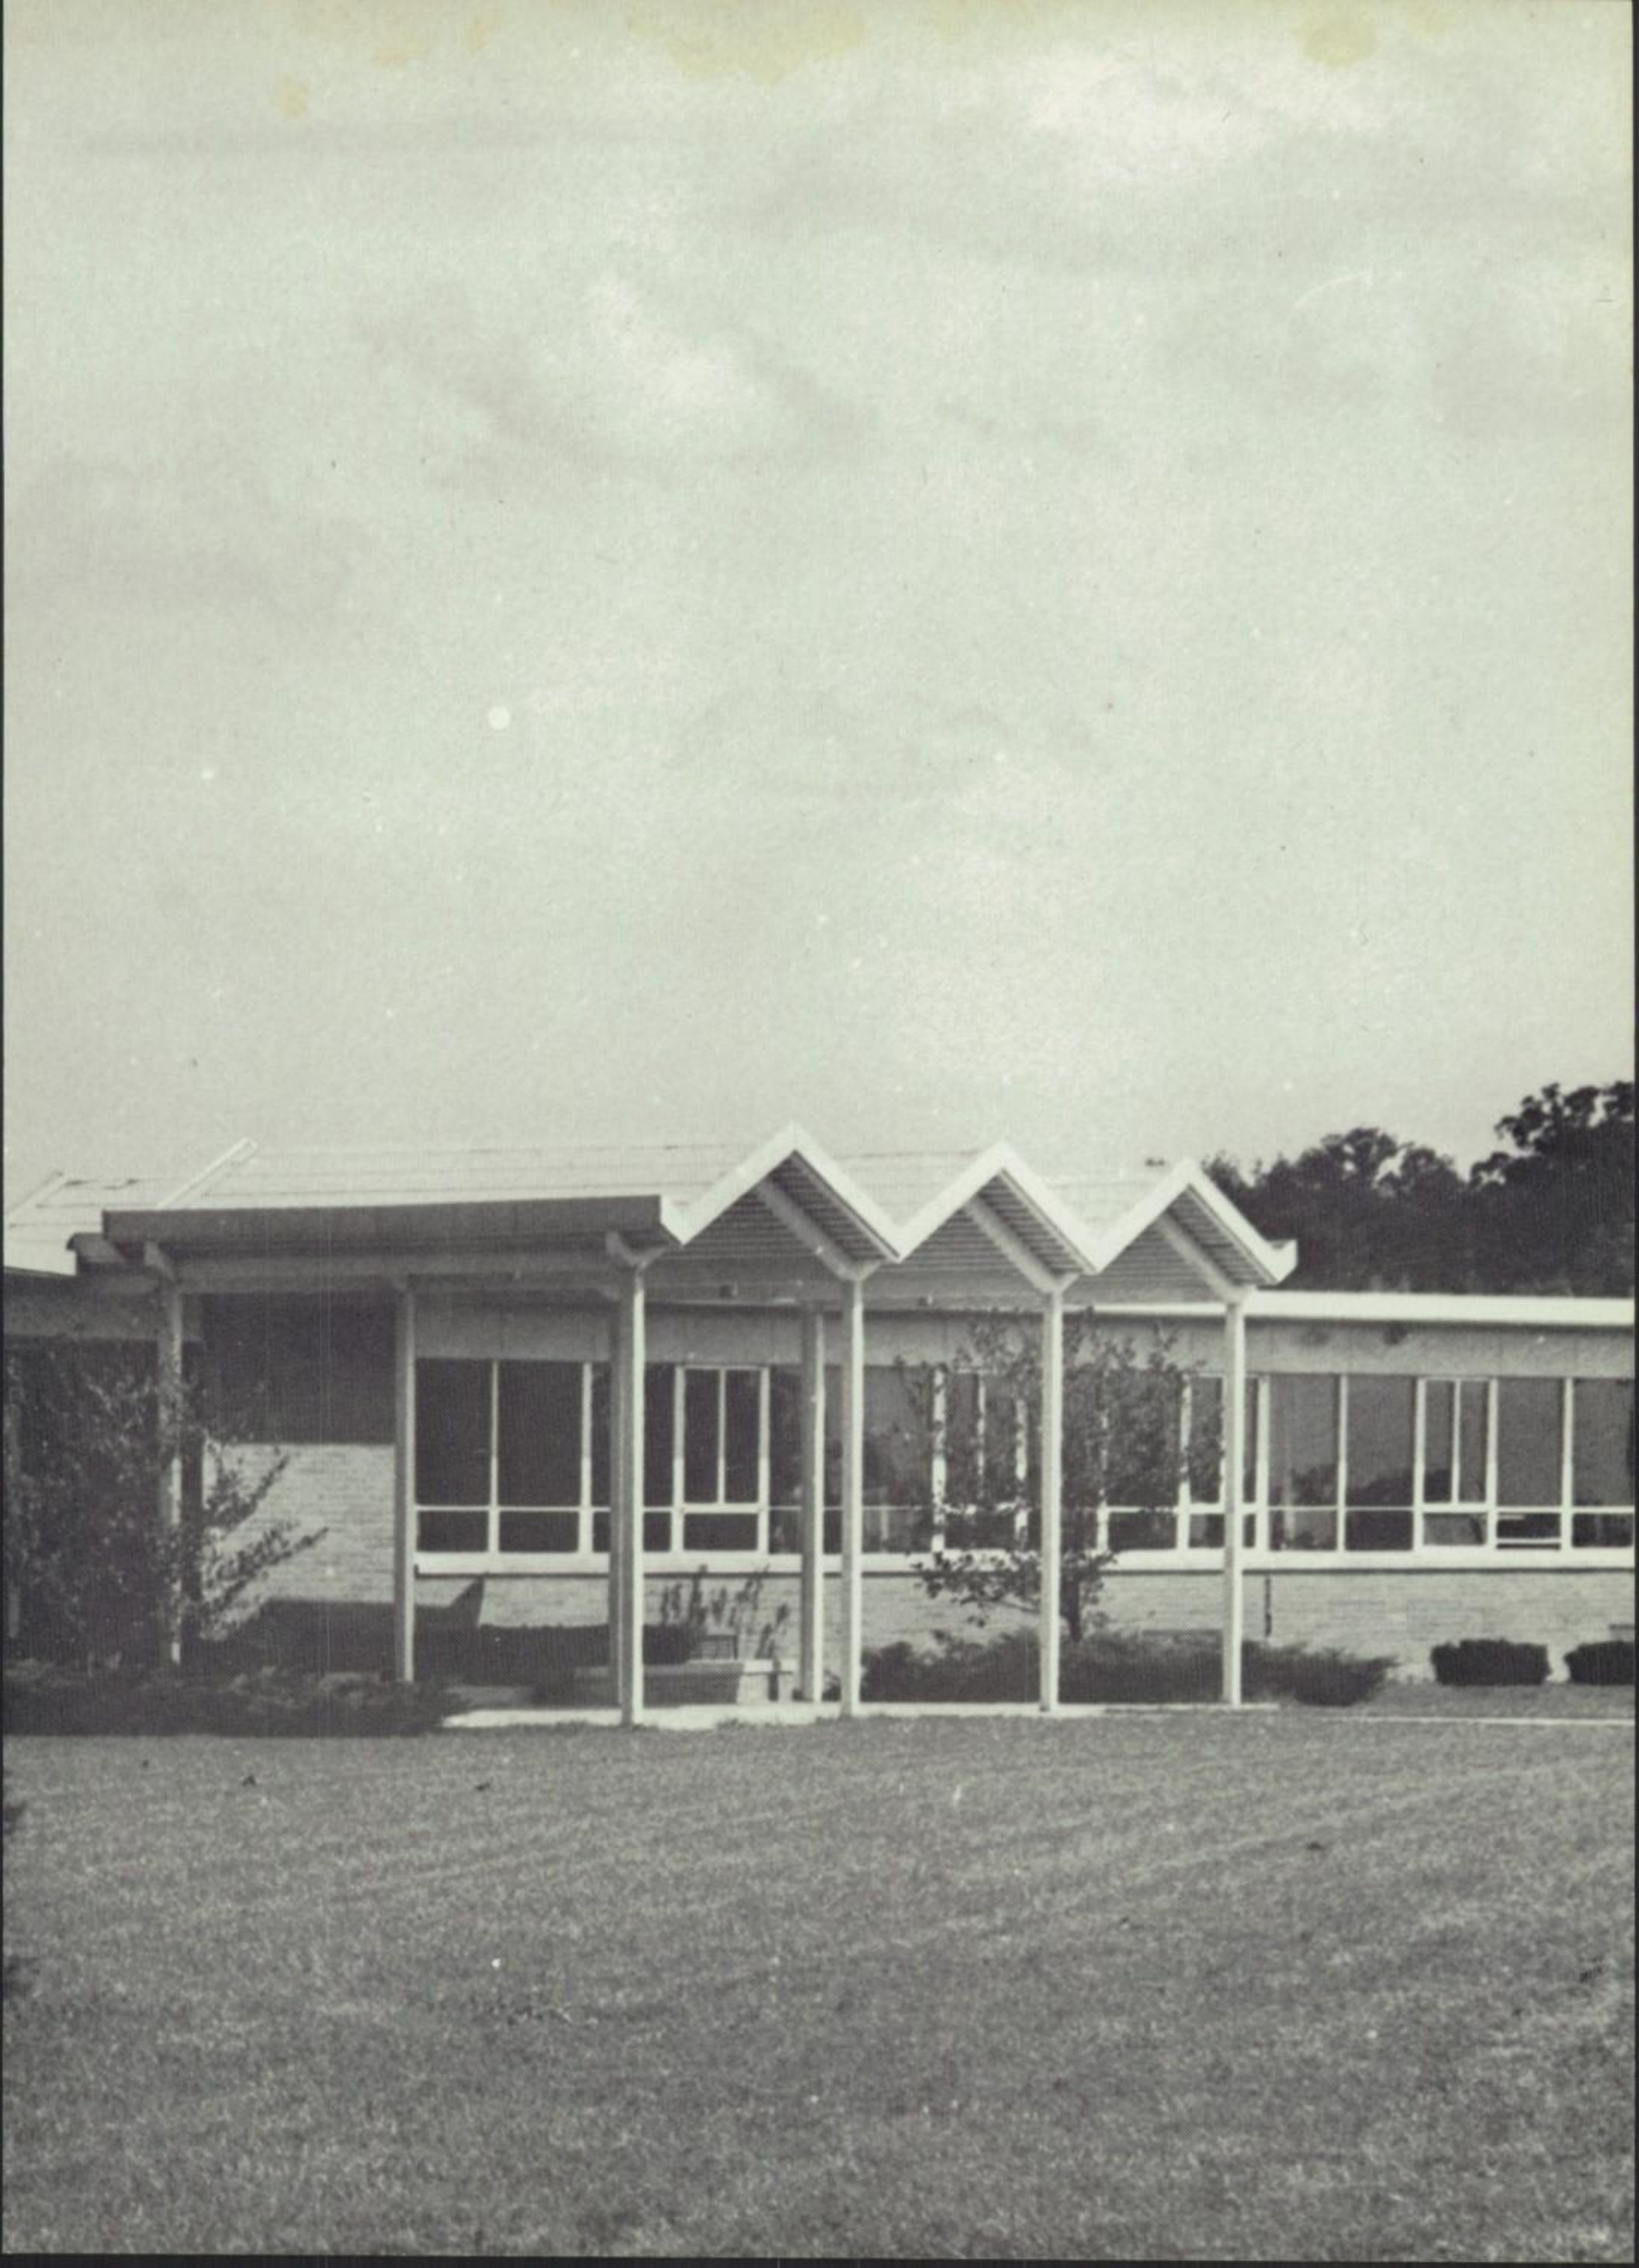
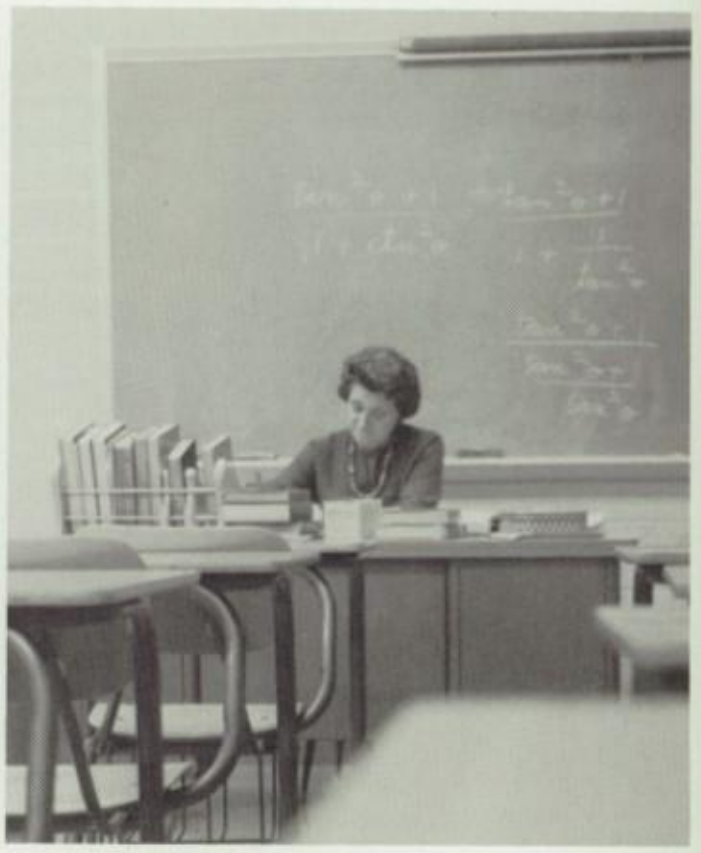
PORTRAIT of— EASTWOOD HIGH







Five days a week, nine months a year the high school student must face a day of classroom study, extracurricular activities; and of course, the constant companion of all students, homework.

For the average Eastwood student, the day begins around 7:30 a.m. A hasty good-bye is said to the family as students rush out to catch the bus. The bus is crowded with friends who laugh and joke, giving little thought to the work the day will bring.

Once at school he will usually congregate with other friends or prepare neglected homework from the evening before. At 8:05 the bell sounds its warning and everyone rushes to their first class.

After attendance and lunch count is taken the real work of the day begins as books are opened and the teacher begins the lecture of the day.

The lunch hour provides a refreshing change-of-pace. The closed lunch room is observed at Eastwood but during the three lunch periods well over three-fourths of the student body buy the hot lunches served in the cafeteria.

The remainder of the lunch period is spent in the auditorium where each week a different movie is shown. The movies deal with anything from Shakespearean plays and biographies of such greats as Mme. Curie to the mad antics of Red Skelton, Jerry Lewis, and Danny Kaye. The programs are supervised by members of the faculty.

After the usual round of classes--government, English, science, foreign languages--the day of classroom study ends and many students head for home, piled down with books, papers, and assignments. For the others there are the after school activities. There's something for everyone; for the athletically minded there's GAA and a wide variety of sports activities for the boys, those seeking to widen their knowledge or improve their skills join something like Latin club, political science, camera club, or the forensic society.

There are career clubs like future farmers, future teachers, and future homemakers, there are special ensembles for the musically inclined, and if one would go to Room 13 after school you would be very likely to see the members of the yearbook or newspaper staff trying to catch up with their never ending work.

This, then is life at Eastwood High School, education being the primary interest with the inclusion of the development of leadership and social growth.

Student Council Serves Students of EHS by Sponsoring

Student Council is one of Eastwood's most active organizations. The purpose of student council is to promote school spirit and citizenship, improve student-teacher relations, and to serve the student body and the community with worthwhile projects.

Student Council is seen actively serving the student body every morning by selling school supplies. The supervision of elections at EHS is another function of the student council.

Early in the Fall soon after the beginning of school, the members of student council discussed the possibility of having a uniform class ring. Next the student council held a pep week with the classes competing to have the best decorated hall. Pep week was terminated by the football homecoming festivities. Another activity held in conjunction with the football season was Parent's Night. To prepare for the basketball season, the student council purchased and placed the pennants of the Northern Lakes League teams in the gymnasium. Smaller Eastwood pennants were sold to the student body during the lunch periods. These are only a few of the many activities sponsored by the Student Council.

The projectionists, a group of about twenty boys, are responsible for all movie and sound equipment at the high school. They are in charge of showing the noon movies as well as various other educational films used. The boys are selected from each incoming freshman class to remain projectionists in good standing, the members must maintain a satisfactory academic standing. The members may be called to show a movie from a study hall any time so they must have their studies prepared ahead of time.

F.T.A. Encourages Enlightening Careers in Teaching

The purpose of the F.T.A. is to prepare students for college and eventual teaching careers.

For practice, the members often substitute for teachers who have been called away for teacher's meetings or other such appointments. Through this way they gain valuable experience.

Mrs. Jeanette Cornell is the adviser of the F.T.A. She chooses the members who are to fill in for the teachers at the other schools.

F.F.A. Molds Tomorrow's Agricultural Leaders

RIGHT: Winners of the county public speaking contest.

The Future Farmers of America is an organization designed to advance agriculture. The Eastwood chapter is no exception and is rated high in its activities. The chapter members continued to score high in the competitive contests of Parliamentary Procedure and Public Speaking as well as doing an outstanding job in the public service field. The chapter members sold highway safety signs to area farmers and also supplied the local citizens with garden seeds for their spring gardens. Even among such activity, each member completed a supervised farming project.

FHA members celebrate Christmas with "Girls Night Out."

The Future Homemakers of America are instructed in varied fields of home management and child care. The club meets twice a month and discuss many aspects of homemaking. On several occasions guest speakers sparked the program.

The club made several memorable trips. One of the most popular was the "Girls Night Out" when the members ate dinner at Netterfield's in Toledo. After dinner, the members enjoyed a movie.

Eagle's Eye Continues in Superior Performance

M. Pool straightens card file of subscribers.

Rated superior in Northwestern Ohio competition since 1959, the EAGLE'S EYE has maintained its high form of news presentation throughout the 1965-66 year. The paper is printed by the Journalism II students under the supervision of Miss Shirley Reese.

The staff publishes and distributes over 2000 copies of the EAGLE'S EYE throughout the school district twice each month and exchanges papers with many neighboring schools.

The many high school, junior high and elementary activities are brought to the attention of the public by means of the topnotch staff reporting.

Students Explore Various Facets of Ancient Roman Life.

Several main activities occupy the program of the Latin Club. In the spring the Toledo Museum of Art sponsors a Latin exhibit. Various models, charts, and projects are displayed. Also in the spring is the initiation of new members with a picnic following. Concluding the whole year is the Roman banquet, when the members dress in togas and stolas and eat in the style of old Rome, reclining at low tables and eating without the customary untensils.

The Latin Club meets the last Tuesday of the month and is guided by Mrs. Cletus Sheffler, and Mrs. Adeline Ridenour.

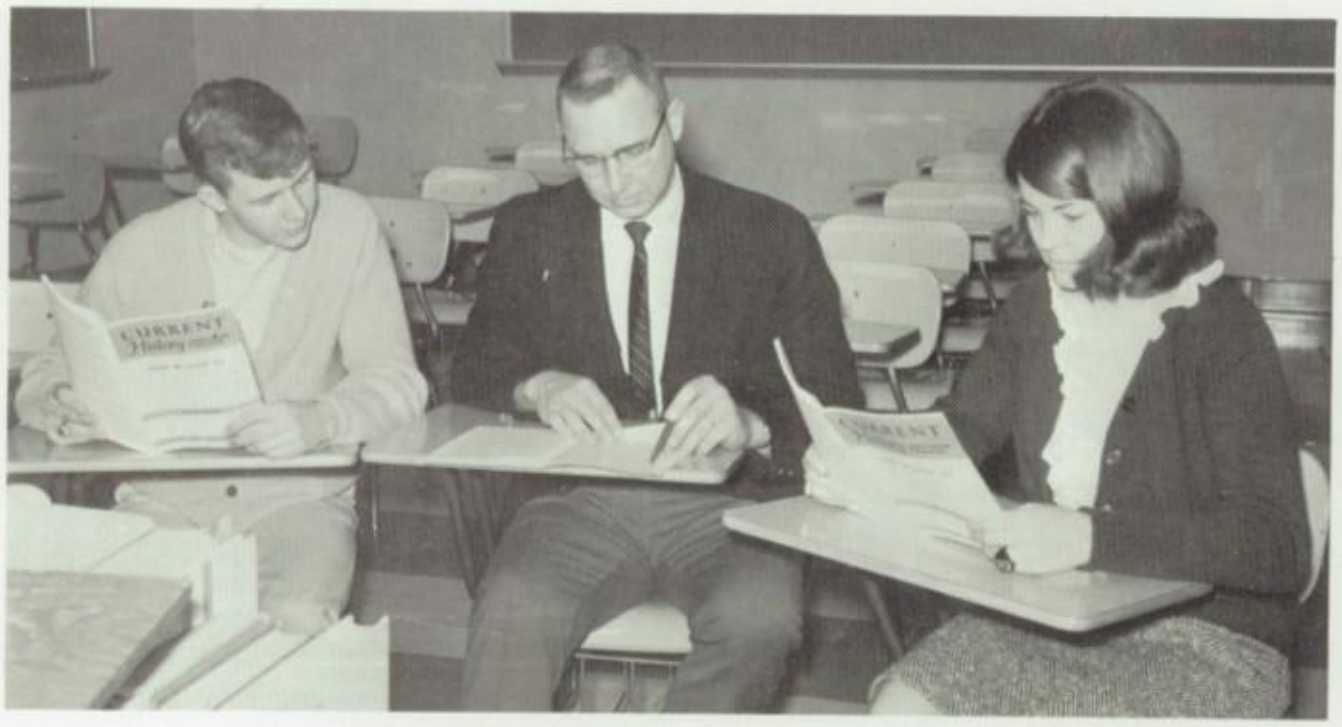
Political Science Instills Knowledge of Foreign Affairs



LEFT: Mr. Bruning discusses the governmental procedures of European countries with J. Konesky and S. Bauman.

Political Science concerns itself with the governments and current events of the world. The club meets once a month guided by CURRENT HISTORY, a monthly magazine on world affairs. Discussions ranged from the war in Viet Nam to labor unions in the United States. The club studied the governments of France, England, China, Russia, Africa, and the Latin American countries.

Political Science is open to juniors and seniors who are interested in government and in keeping up to date on the international picture. Mr. Dale Bruning and Mr. Calvin Fruend guided the monthly discussions and added many valuable comments.

Sic Sic Sez Boosts School Spirit and Student Interest

One sophomore and three senior girls constitute a secret organization known as Sic Sic Sez. Throughout the school year, this name hasbeen seen on many decorative hall posters encouraging students to attend athletic events. Imagination, originality, and humor are the keynotes of these signs. The members of this year's Sic Sic Sez were: S. Spanton, J. Buchman, S. Bauman, M. Bockbrader.

Ensembles, girls' and mixed choruses, and Swingin' E's compose the choral department. This year there are 75 members in Mixed Chorus, and 60 members in Girls' Chorus. Each class has a girls' ensemble and Swingin' E's, Mixed Octet, and Arion Club consists of junior and senior vocalists. Mr. Mark Deerwester, head of the choral department, spends much time after school rehearsing with these groups.

Students participated in a Christmas concert, and various presentations throughout the year. An annual musical is also a feature. This year "Bye Bye Birdie" was received with great enthusiasm by the general public.

Near Christmas and late November, when the musical was produced, choral students could be seen walking around the halls busily practicing and memorizing music. Practical jokes and last-minute adjustments provide amusement for on-lookers backstage at productions.

Private lessons help to produce first rate musicians.

The Eastwood Marching Band enjoyed a successful season this year. They participated in many parades and football shows as their appearance took on a highly polished look.

The Concert Band started practicing in November and picked up momentum as the days went by. Students who were unable to be in the marching band because of other conflicting activities were: Alice Kahlenberg, Wesley Long, Gerald Brown, Daniel Vestal, David Evans, Deborah Jacobs, and Larry Titkemeier. The band performed a winter concert for the public on February 15, and presented a "Pops" Concert May 6, the theme being "Outer Space."

Individual members showed their skill on their respective instruments in the soloist contest on March 5. They then joined the band proper and entered the band contest on March 19.

Band members prove to be good ambassadors at away football games.

The Girls Athletic Association is the largest single organization in school consisting entirely of girls who are interested in sports and recreation. Throughout the school year, various activities take place such as Volleyball and Basketball which are both Interschool as well as Intraschool, Hockey, Soccer, Softball, Badminton, and Archery. In these sports, girls learn beneficial traits of honesty, fair play, and sportsmanship.

Besides these vigorous activities, G.A.A. sponsors a sweatshirt sale, a "sock sale", and they climax the year with the G.A.A. formal dance in the spring. At the end of the year, there is also an event honoring the departing Senior members.

S. Gullufsen takes over football reign.

Sally Gullufsen, a brown-haired senior, reigned as queen over the football homecoming October 1. She was presented with roses and a necklace by the co-captains Duane Dunmeyer and Rudy Spahn. Sally, entering the field on her pink and white float, was crowned by Constance Thatcher, the 1964 queen.

The Eagles were defeated in the homecoming game 18-12 by the Elmwood Royals. Michael Gardner scored twice for the Eagles.

A bonfire at which the queen and her court were announced started the homecoming week. A dance Saturday night, October 2, concluded the week long activities.

Varsity Post 7 Game

Eastwood's varsity basketball team turned in a successful season under the leadership of Coach Dale Bruning and Co-captains, Jerry Sandwisch and Dave Baker.

The Eagles chalked up seven consecutive wins before being stopped by the Perrysburg Yellow Jackets by a score of 65-66. The team went on to close the season in third place behind Rossford and Genoa in the Nothern Lakes League.

Coach Bruning was named class AA coach of the year and six of the varsity squad received at least an honorable mention on the all county team with Mitch Kingsley and Bob Wilson being named on the first team.

The JV's finished with a commendable record. Mr. Rolland Huss coached the team.

"Bye-Bye Birdie", the hit Broadway musical, was presented by the music department of Eastwood. Directors Mark Deerwester and Lawrence McCormick were in charge of the production November 19, 20, and 21.

Teen-age idol Conrad Birdie is drafted into the army. His agent goes to Sweetapple, Ohio, to give a teen-age girl "One Last Kiss". Unfortunately, Kim MacAfee, the girl who has been chosen, is already pinned to Hugo Peabody ("One Boy").

The plot is filled out by screaming teenagers, indignant parents, and inquisitive reporters. Favorite songs of the cast included "How Lovely To Be A Woman"--Kim, "Ed Sullivan"--The MacAfees, "Spanish Rose"--Rose, "Talk To Me"--Albert, and "Telephone Hour"--teenagers.

Talented band members comprise orchestra.

The humanities was a new course added to the curriculum last October. Students were specifically selected for the course and no credits or grades were issued for this work. Monday a televised broadcast from BGSU entitled the "Age of Reason" was viewed and on Friday the topic of the week was led by Mrs. Cletus Sheffler. During the week the students had assigned readings which added to and supported Monday's program.

Vo-Ag Instills Qualities Necessary for Success

The prime purpose of the vocational agriculture classes is to teach the students the best methods of farming as well as leadership and responsibility. Leadership was taught by contest such as Parliamentary Procedure and Public speaking. Responsibility is taught by each member having his own project and being responsible for it. Other fields covered in vo-ag are shop, small motors, masonry, and soils. In shop work the students do constructive work to benefit the farms on which they live. Masonry work is done through experience.

The main objective of the industrial arts course is to introduce the student to the fundamental methods of shop work. The students learn to work with wood, plastic, and metal. While learning they produce projects which are useful as well as attractive. As they progress through the course they move on to more complicated projects.

The Eastwood education system realizes that mental fitness is impossible without physical fitness and so students at Eastwood are provided with a well-rounded course of activities.

This year tumbling was added to the girls' classes. The classes also played volleyball, baseball, softball, basketball, and etc.

Music Provides Satisfaction to Cultural Fulfillment

Over the years interest and participation has increased until the music department is now one of the largest departments at Eastwood. Each of the divisions, both chorus and band, contain over 100 members.

The vocal music, meets in two sections every day. The mixed chorus rehearses three days a week with girls chorus meeting on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The band also has a full rehearsal schedule, meeting every day. The marching band often drilled before school to perfect their halftime shows. The members also participated regularly in sectional or group rehearsals for individual improvement.

For the first time at Eastwood both the band and the chorus participated in the music contest.

The students participating in the music program have greatly benefited by the increased academic, entertaining, and organizational training received under the able leadership of Mr. Lawrence McCormic and Mr. Mark Deerwester.

Penta-County

This year a new step in vocational training was initiated at Penta County Vocational School. Students from five counties are able to learn and participate actively in occupational training programs not offered at their own high schools. They can develop their skills in such fields as Agriculture, Home Economics, Business Education, and Distributive Education. Regular academic courses are taught and the students are able to participate in the extracurricular activities at their own high schools. The 76 students from Eastwood participate in this new program.

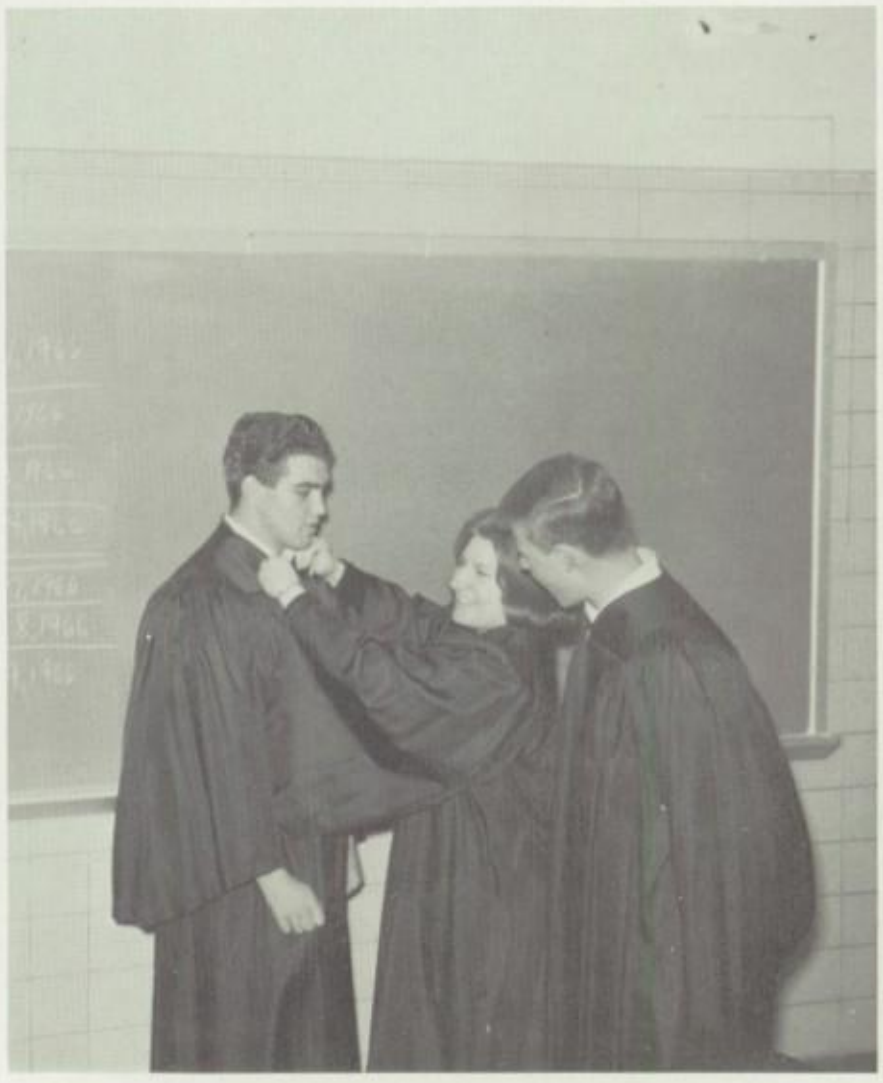
D. Madaras contemplates what the future will hold.

For the seniors, their entire way of life will be disrupted as they go out to find their way in the world. What has been given to them at Eastwood must provide a foundation for them for this task.

No picture of the school year would be complete without something being said about the senior class and their many fine contributions to the Eastwood school.

June 5 will culminate all the study, activities, and friendships which have been made during the past twelve years. After that day each will go his own way; to jobs, colleges, or vocational schools.



Seniors anticipate graduation day.

JOHN BIDDLE JR.
Sept. 17, 1949
Oct. 2, 1965

The life of John Biddle ended suddenly in 1965, when he was tragically killed in a two car accident.

He will long be remembered by the students at Eastwood High School, and his classmates at Penta County Vocational School.

Active participation in high school projects made the Freshmen feel right at home in the new high school. They vied for pep week honors and made a substantial effort toward winning the coveted trophy.

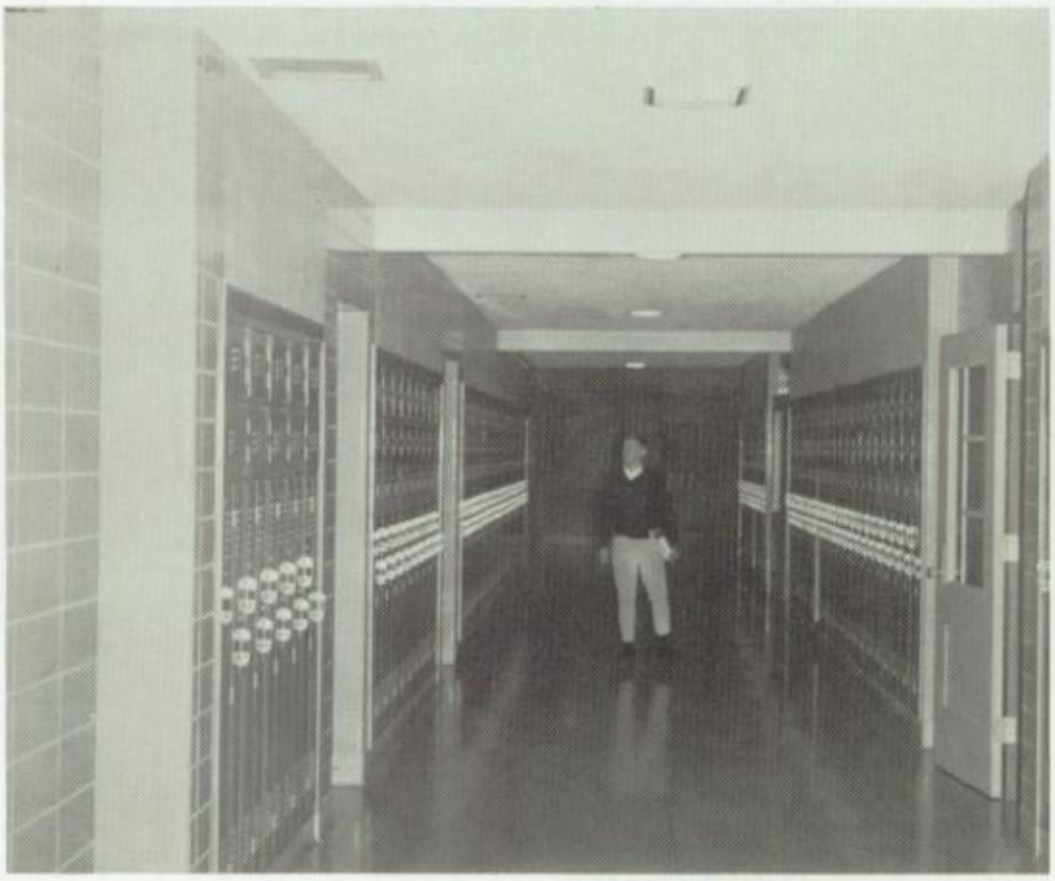
Their School Life. They Found New Horizons To



Many of the Freshmen felt lost in the high school. It took several weeks to become familiar with all the different aspects of high school life. The newcomers suffered the wisecracks and the pranks handed out to them by the upperclassmen but as time went on they became valuable, contributing members of the high school populace.

Nearly every spare moment is spent studying, especially if you're a Freshmen, for keeping up with all the new subjects is no easy task. But the study also provided a chance to talk things over with friends and catch up on the news.

As co-editors of this yearbook we would like to extend our thanks to all those who made its publication possible and especially our staff for the many long hours of work they contributed.

A special thanks goes to Mr. Dallas Gardner and Mr. Richard Lowrie for their guidance and Mr. Richard Welnialk who served as our adviser, also the school custodians, Mr. Robert Beeker and Mr. Frank Brown for opening the school and allowing the staff to work many evenings during the past months.

We also extend our appreciation to the teachers for allowing us to disrupt classes in order to obtain the pictures needed for this yearbook.

But without you, the subscribers, no book could be considered a success. We hope you enjoyed the 1966 Aquila as much as we have enjoyed serving our co-editorship.

Very sincerely,

Larry Busdeker
